Sandy Hill Elementary Participated in WSSA Stack Up!

It's Official!

Sandy Hill Elementary School was part of the 2011 WSSA STACK UP!

Three hundred and eighty six Sandy Hill students, parent volunteers, and staff members stacked cups from 8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. on November 17 to help try and break the Guinness Book of World Records for the "Most People Sport Stacking at Multiple Locations in One Day".

Sport stackers from all reaches of the world stacked various pyramids in prescribed patterns at lightning speed for at least 30 minutes, all combined with a variety of fitness activities. Sights were set on 350,000 stackers.

While preparing for this spectacular day, we decided to STACK UP for a good cause. The Sandy Hill students brought in quarters and more to raise money for other kids who have to drink unsafe water rather than clean drinking water. The students' quarters totaled $166.00. This will be donated to World Vision for PUR water purification packets for needy communities. World Vision serves all people, regardless of religion, race, ethnicity, or gender.
